तव यत् ललाटं Your forehead (which) आभाति shines लावण्य-द्युति-विमलं with the beauty of the clear moon; मन्ये I think तत् द्वितीयं मकुटघटितं चन्द्रशकलम् that the crescent moon set on Your crown is a second one. उभयमपि the two, विपर्यास-न्यासात् placed inverted and मिथः संभूय च joined together, परिणमति shines like the सुधालेपस्यूतिः राका-हिमकरः autumnal full moon with nectar dripping from it.

Your forehead shines clear with the splendor of beauty. Hence I think that the crescent moon set on Your crown is a second one. The two, placed inverted and joined together, would form the autumnal moon, with the nectar dripping from it. S.L. 46
