हिमगिरिसुते Oh, Daughter of Himavan, धनुः (Manmata's) bow पौष्पं (is made up of) flowers; मौर्वी bow-string मधुकरमयी comprised of a cluster of honey-bees; विशिखाः arrows पञ्च (are only) five सामन्तः (and they are also made of) flowers ! वसन्तः (his assistant) is the Spring Season; आयोदन रथः the war-chariot (is) मलयमरुत् the Southern breeze; तथा अपि Even then, अनङ्गः the bodiless Manmata एकः by himself) alone, ते अपांगात् by Your side-glance, कामपि कृपां लब्ध्वा having obtained some favor विजयते conquers इदं सर्वं जगत् this entire world !

Oh, Daughter of Himavan ! Manmata has only a bow made of flowers, with its string comprised of a cluster of honey-bees, and has barely five flower arrows; The Spring season is his vassal (assistant) and the Southern breeze, his war-chariot. Yet (with such frail equipment), bodiless, and alone he is, Manmata subjugates the entire Universe, having obtained some favor through Your benign side-glance ! S.L. 6
